

Little Miss Obsessive - Ashlee Simpson

Contributed by Tayler
Sunday, 11 May 2008
Last Updated Sunday, 31 August 2008

My new favorite song is from Ashlee Simpson's new c.d. (Bittersweet World) it is called "Little Miss Obsessive" featuring Tom Higgenson. I read that this song was her first single released from her c.d. (Bittersweet World). But I hadn't heard it before I searched for her new c.d. The only single I heard on the radio by her was "Outta My Head". I love where she says "In the morning, I got in a fight with myself"! I liked her more after I heard that verse! She did so well on this song, in her voice. It is completely different from "Outta My Head". Which I love. I think that it is funny that when I bought the single "Outta My Head" Ashlee Simpson had brunette hair, than I bought this song and she had blond hair on the cover. But now in magazines she has red hair. Ha-ha. She dyes her hair a lot. I just bought this song a few days ago and it is already one of the most listened to songs on my playlist. It never gets old, I listened to it like twenty time and it only seem like one! It is that good!

At first I couldn't remember who Tom Higgenson was, but I realized he is from Plain White Tees. So I knew the song was good if it had two great singers in it! This is also the first song I heard that Tom Higgenson did, without the rest of the Plain White Tees. If I hadn't read the little side bar that he was in the song, I would not have noticed him at all. I might have noticed someone was singing in the background but I would have thought it was how they producers edited it. He doesn't have a big part or a solo. You can barely hear him in the back. Not that I a complaining, it is a good thing because the song is perfect. I have no idea how it could get any better! I absolutely love it! It is one of those songs, that everyone loves. I mean you just can't dislike this song. Unless you purposely are trying not to like it. The more I listen to it the more I like it. I wish it had a music video. They might make one! That would be great because it is such a cool song.

{youtube}o4zOFs-Ea7M{/youtube}

Here are the lyrics for "Little Miss Obsessive":

Woah, Woah, (the side of your bed is still mine)

Woah, Woah, (the side of your bed is still mine)

Am I the reason why you tossed and turned last night?

Everything's such a blur, it didn't come out right.

All of the sudden it's cold and we're falling apart.

No this can't be, please don't leave me alone in the dark.

And I guess we're really over, so come over, i'm not over it.

And I guess we're really over, so come over, i'm not over it.

Late night you make me feel like i'm desperate, I'm not desperate.

Oh, a little bit possessive, little miss obsessive, can't get over it.

Woah, Woah,(the side of your bed is still mine)

Woah, Woah,(the side of your bed is still mine)

I've never been a fan of long good-byes.

I'm at the finish line and you're just way too far behind.

In the morning I got in a fight with myself, I got the bruises to prove it.

Then I swallowed your words and spit them right back out.

And I guess we're really over, so come over, i'm not over it.

And I guess we're really over, so come over, i'm not over it.

Late night you make me feel like i'm desperate, I'm not desperate.

Oh, a little bit possessive, little miss obsessive, can't get over it.

No.

It's like a fairy tale without a happy ending (happy ending).

But then again maybe we are just pretending.

Why does it have to be so unfair?

Tell me that you care.

And I guess we're really over, but come over, i'm not over it.

And I guess we're really over, so come over, i'm not over it, oh.

Little miss (Woah), little miss (Woah), little miss Woah), little miss obsessive.

Little miss (Woah), little miss (Woah), little miss Woah), little miss obsessive.

Late night you make me feel like i'm desperate, I'm not desperate.

Oh, a little bit possessive, little miss obsessive, can't get over it.

Woah, Woah, (the side of your bed is still mine)

Woah, Woah, (the side of your bed is still mine)