

Disturbia - Rihanna

Contributed by Tayler
Wednesday, 30 July 2008
Last Updated Sunday, 05 April 2009

“Disturbia” by Rihanna is the best song I have heard her sing in a long time. I was getting sick of Rihanna because all of her songs started to sound alike after “Umbrella” did so good on the charts and in her bank account.

This song is very interesting. I like how unique it is, not like anything I have heard before. Although she may have had influence from former boyfriend Shia Leouffe’s movie, also called Disturbia. Could she still have feeling for him? Nah, she has another hottie on her arm, Chris Brown.

She actually sounds good in this song. In some of her previous songs, I thought she sounded like, well, awful. And some songs she hardly sings like “Shut up And Drive” and although I like “Take A Bow” she hardly sings in it. Plus I was so sick of her repeating a word over and over. In “Umbrella” she repeated “ella ella eh eh” in “Shut Up And Drive” she repeated “Drive, ive ive ive.” and in “Don’t Stop The Music” she repeated “Music, music music music”. But in “Disturbia” she quit that crap so she actually has a decent song.

The music video is very creepy. The freakiest music video I have ever seen. She does an excellent job playing crazy. I mean all the creepy things you can think of, expect them in this video. Don’t like spiders? Rihanna has a spider web on her face and spiders on her body. Thinking she can just brush them off and run away? Think again. In her “Disturbia” world Rihanna’s arms and legs are stuck in the wall and floor. But that is not all.. Rihanna has white eyes. Her whole eye is white as she tries to escape from a cage which adds to the creepiness.

Overall I think this is a great song. So now I know Rihanna is capable of making a good song, but she doesn’t very often in my opinion. I do recommend the song to everyone of all ages but I do not recommend the music video to people who get scared easily. {youtube}a6zdhHLvT7k{/youtube}